A German tourist left his wife at the highway stopping place. A couple was going for winter vacation in Switzerland. They just wanted to take in petrol and refresh at the gas station. The man had to wait in the line at the cash desk and so his wife went to the toilet. When he came back to the car, he did not realize that wife was gone and left the station. After 3 hours he found out that the front-seat is empty. He returned immediately. His wife was waiting at the highway stopping place because she had left her cell phone in the boot. They could continue back to Germany after two hours.
